

ALL BOARDERS
WANTED ADS.
PUBLISHED IN THE WORLD
TO-MORROW
TO-MORROW
WILL BE
"Boarders' Day."

The

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1894.

World.

FREE TO-MORROW
FOR BOARDERS
WANTED,
PRINTED IN
14 Words, 30 Cents.

PRICE ONE CENT.

EXTRA.
2 O'CLOCK.

A MOVE FOR HARMONY.

Mr. Hill and His Managers
Here to Win Over Grace and Shepard Factions.

THEIR SUPPORT NECESSARY.

Hint Thrown Out that Hill May Not Accept if His Mission Fails.

LIKELY TO CALL ON GAYNOR.

Part of the Harmony Plan is to Induce the Justice to Accept.

There is to be a strong effort made at once to harmonize the factions in the Democratic party in this city, with a view to uniting them in support of the State ticket. It is conceded that if the present situation of affairs continues for two weeks longer the damage will be irreparable.

So Mr. John Boyd Thacher and Mr. Hill and Chairman of the State Committee Hinkley have come to town for the purpose of opening a sort of Faith-Cure bureau, in which old political sores are to be cured by the laying on of hands.

It is given out that Mr. Hill is in town on personal business, but it is hard to conceive of any more important business than that Mr. Hill has on hand at the present time than that of fixing up his political party, so that he can corral and hold the full party vote.

MR. HILL'S BUSY DAY.

Receives Reports from Political Friends and Starts Downtown.

David Bennett Hill received many callers this morning in his quarters at the Hotel Normandie. Newspaper men were not admitted, but some information reached them, with Mr. Hill's consent, through his visitors.

For instance, Clerk De Freest, of the State Committee, who was with Mr. Hill for half an hour, when asked Mr. Hill's opinion of the third-ticket movement, said:

"Mr. Hill doesn't care a continental about the nomination, anyhow."

"And he hasn't accepted it yet."

E. L. Ridgeway, brother of the District Attorney of Kings County, James W. Ridgeway, had a little chat with the Senator, but he declined to say whether or not it was in relation to an effort to win over the Shepards.

President of the Board of Aldermen George B. McClellan also had an interview with Mr. Hill. Then came John Boyd Thacher, who was about to receive the nomination for Governor when it was given to Mr. Hill.

Other callers were Assistant District Attorney Robert Townsend, Dr. A. E. McDonald and Gen. David Wylie.

Mr. Thacher outstayed all the rest. He arrived at 9 o'clock, and at 10:30 he and Mr. Hill left the hotel together and started downtown.

There was some talk of their going somewhere to take part in a secret conference, but no confirmation could be found for this.

Clerk De Freest said he knew the nature of the Senator's business in town, but was not at liberty to divulge it. He replied:

"He may, and then again he may not. The Senator will remain here a few days."

WILL HILL VISIT GAYNOR?

Here's a Report that He Will Urge the Justice to Accept.

All sorts of rumors were floating about among politicians in Brooklyn this morning, relative to Supreme Court Justice William J. Gaynor's nomination by the Democratic machine convention for Judge of the Court of Appeals.

First it was said, that Senator Hill was coming to Brooklyn, and would meet Justice Gaynor at the Clarendon Hotel. The object of Mr. Hill's visit, it was said, was to urge Justice Gaynor to accept.

If Mr. Hill was expected in Brooklyn, Justice Gaynor knew nothing about it. "I have not heard of such a rumor," said Justice Gaynor, "and I have not been notified that Senator Hill desires to see me."

"I have nothing to say about the nomination. I have not been notified of the action of the Convention. I do not know what will be anything for me to say for publication to-day."

"Don't pay any attention to rumors," concluded Justice Gaynor, "and wait for the action of the Convention. They will come out in due time. Senator Hill hasn't accepted yet, has he?"

Among other rumors there was one that District Attorney James W. Ridgeway, had been in conference with Justice Gaynor for over an hour yesterday. This Mr. Ridgeway denied emphatically.

"I haven't spoken to Justice Gaynor for over two months," said he.

K. C. MACHINE CONCESSIONS.

To Win Shepards It Would Sacrifice State Committeemen.

From the result of the meeting of the General County Committee of the re-organized Democracy of Kings County held in Brooklyn last night it is evident that the regular Democrats over there are willing to do anything possible to win the State ticket.

There was a strong feeling in the room that the olive branch held out to the Shepards, but the latter were asked to meet the regulars in conference to-day, rather than for the good of the party.

Besides doing these things the County Committee members were asked to do four machine leaders who were placed on the State Committee against the protest of the Kings County Democrats. They are Senators Coffey and McCarthy, ex-Senator McCarty and ex-County Clerk Debelmas.

McCarthy was at the meeting last night with a few of his retainers, and they had a long conference. McCarthy said they had no idea of the strong undercurrent, and when the first suggestion was made to drop the Shepards, he and one of his retainers suggested that the leader of the Shepards should be sent "to the devil."

It was then that the storm broke. McCarthy, Coffey, Debelmas and McCarthy were attacked by name. The State Committee was censured for having appointed the four machine leaders to the State Committee. This was the first time that the machine leaders had been generally well treated.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

James D. Bell, ex-Police Commissioner, was the first to speak up. He called upon the State Committee to meet the Shepards at the meeting. This was the first time that the delegates from each Congressional district had been present at the State Committee meeting.

JAPS MARCHING ON.

Army in Corea but Fifty Miles from the Chinese Boundary.

China Moving Her Treasures from Moukden to Jehol.

British Troops from India Might Protect Treaty Ports.

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 2.—The Japanese army has reached Anju, in Northeastern Corea. The first column advanced to Chongju and Kungso, further northeast and about fifty miles from the Chinese boundary, without finding the enemy. The Third and Fifth Divisions have established their headquarters at Ping Yang.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A despatch to the Daily News from Vienna says it has been learned that China is transferring all the Imperial treasures from Moukden to Jehol, beyond the great wall, whither Emperor Hien-Jong fled from the Anglo-French armies in 1900.

The Times this morning publishes a despatch from Simla, India, stating that a division of troops, 6,000 strong, could be sent from India on short notice to protect the treaty ports in China.

The Times also publishes letters from Yokohama, bearing date of Aug. 24, stating that Japan is preparing to increase her army in Corea to 100,000 men. The intentions of the Government, as proclaimed by the native press, the letter states, are to crush the Chinese army in Corea and march on Peking, where a claim for a large indemnity will be made and the cession of the island of Formosa demanded.

TIENTSIN, Oct. 2.—It is officially announced that 5,000 Japanese troops have arrived close to Fasslet Bay, near the Russian front.

Reported here that the Japanese fleet had been sighted, on Sept. 28, ten miles from Shan-Hai-Kwan, 200 miles from Peking.

Large bodies of Chinese troops have been drafted to that district during the last few days, in order to prevent the Japanese from landing.

Paslet Bay is on the extreme north-east coast of Corea. The Japanese troops reported there in the Pien-Tai dispatch are probably the same referred to in the Yokohama dispatch above.

The "Maritime Region" of Siberia.

THE CZAR'S ILLNESS.

It Was Kept a Secret from His Recently Married Daughter.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A despatch to The Standard from Berlin says it is stated that the Czar kept the Czar's illness secret as long as possible for the sake of his daughter, the Grand Duchess Xenia, who was married on Aug. 6 to the Grand Duke Michaelovitch, and is now in poor health.

A despatch to the Daily News from Berlin says that during his stay at the Czar took daily drives. Three days ago he went hunting and shot a stag.

You read the Evening World?

You read the Sunday World?

BOARDERS SECURED.

YOU WANT

BOARDERS?

ADVERTISE IN

THE WORLD

TO-MORROW.

TO-MORROW IS

THE WORLD'S

BOARDERS

DAY.

ON

THESE ADS. FREE

IN THE

EVENING WORLD.

14 WORDS,

30 CENTS.

CLUBBERS

SUMMONED.

Policemen Convicted of Brutality to Citizens Appear Before Lexow.

NINETY STILL ON THE FORCE.

Only Four Officers Have Been Broken on Such Charges in Three Years.

BLUECOATS AS LAWBREAKERS.

Mr. Goff Says He Will Show that They Are Granted Immunity from Punishment.

Chief Counsel Goff, of the Lexow Committee, had prepared a novel sensation for the second day of his Fall campaign in the investigation of the Police Department. He had subpoenaed all the members of the force who had been convicted of clubbing citizens in the last three years, and who are still retaining their places on the "Pinet."

Mr. Goff was late in arriving, and they all seemed to be in the court-room this morning. They took complete possession of the space inside the railing, and were the objects of no little curiosity to the other spectators when it was learned who they were and why they were there.

"This beats Barnum's wild-beast show all to pieces," said Mr. Goff, "and I am, I think, joking away. We think we have every clubber on the force here this morning, and we propose to have some fun with them. At least, we shall try to find out how it is they have managed to keep their places on the force after they have been convicted of some of their several crimes of outrageous brutality towards helpless citizens."

"The police records show that during the last three years only four men have been dismissed for clubbing, although, as I say, more than ninety have been convicted of this offense before the Police Commissioners, and of those four, three were charged with clubbing other policemen."

The "Fanning" Brigade.

The "fanning" brigade, as it may properly be called, for the New York policeman never clubs a citizen, he simply "fans" him, represented every precinct in the city, and before the hour for opening the proceedings arrived it had grown so large numerically that the overflow had to be accommodated in the corridor.

In their general appearance it could not be said that they were very different from any other collection of blue-coats that might be brought together by chance, but when their record and real character were disclosed it was a difficult matter to imagine all sorts of dreadful things about them, although their demeanor was very quiet and even.

GOFF LOOKED FLURRIED.

It was 11:15 when Mr. Goff came in looking rather flurried. He had a consultation with Mr. Moss, who got up and called out several times.

Where's the man from the Register?

No one responded and there was another wait, after which Mr. Goff rose and said, very deliberately, that he proposed to present some very important testimony to-day, which would show the very gist of the matter under investigation, as showing the relations of the police to the citizens.

In the first place, he said, he wanted to show the attitude of the police to the citizens, and he wanted to show the attitude of the police to the citizens, and he wanted to show the attitude of the police to the citizens.

He had found only four convictions during the last three years, although there had been ninety convictions had.

In the second place, he preferred to show by the evidence of witnesses and records of the Police Department that to all intents and purposes the police of New York were exempt from the operation of the law of the land.

Police Exempt from the Law.

"These men," said Mr. Goff, "can commit felonies and misdemeanors, and have done so for years, and have gone unpunished. If a civilian had committed these crimes his punishment would have been State prison."

In other words, the operation of the law which applies to ordinary citizens, the police are exempt from, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force. A police officer can brain a citizen, and the law is stopped short when it comes to the police force.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1894.

GOING UP HIGHER.

A TORNADO HITS WICHITA.

Over in Two Minutes, but Its Path One of Destruction.

Thirty Buildings Wrecked.—Three Deaths in the Storm Reported.

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 2.—A rain cloud from the West came in contact with a storm cloud from the South last night. They fused and proceeded to demolish property. The twelfth street depot of the Missouri Pacific was the first building struck, and it was completely demolished, the roof striking the stable of the Fairmount electric street railway, which it like an eggshell. Twelve men were in the building, but all escaped unhurt, although thrown about from one end to the other.

The storm passed east about a mile, accomplishing all its destruction in less than two minutes. About thirty houses and barns were wrecked, and probably five hundred shade trees were uprooted and strewn about in all directions. The Fairmount electric street railway was damaged, and the Fairmount electric street railway was damaged, and the Fairmount electric street railway was damaged.

Three children were hurt and two were killed. The children were killed by the falling of a chimney. The children were killed by the falling of a chimney. The children were killed by the falling of a chimney.

When Mute Lost His Watch the Intelligent Became Suspicious.

Edward Hasley, fifteen years old, of 231 Tillary street, Brooklyn, and Frank Young, seventeen years old, of 16 James street, began a fake fight this morning in City Hall Park, between the General Sessions and County Court House buildings.

A crowd gathered, and John Muta, a bystander, lost his silver watch. When the timepiece was taken the two boys ran to their heels up Chambers street, but were captured by Park Police Officer Sawyer.

When arraigned at the Tombs Police Court they pleaded not guilty, and were held in $1,000 bail for trial.

FOUR SAILORS LOST AT SEA.

And Another Seaman Badly Hurt on the Ship Almsdale.

FAYAL, Oct. 2.—The British ship Almsdale, Capt. Owens, which sailed from Tacoma on May 19 for Queenstown, has put into this port for medical assistance. The Almsdale encountered heavy gales on the voyage, during which Seaman Thomas Dixon was badly injured and four other members of the crew, named Glasston, Thomsen, Prentiss and Kendall, were washed overboard and drowned.

Link Defends His Character.

David H. Link, of 57 Lawrence street, desired to have it stated that he and James Campbell, who work in the Columbus street, at Columbus street and Sixty-ninth street, were vindicated by Justice Steele in Kentucky Court yesterday of the charge of desecrating and robbing a Mrs. Brown, who lives opposite the Columbus street. Link denies the statement made by the police that he had been arrested at various times on charges of robbery.

Weather Forecast.

The weather forecast for the thirty-six hours ending at 9 P. M. tomorrow is as follows: Fair followed by increasing cloudiness and rain Wednesday evening or night, slightly warmer, with becoming squally.

The following table shows the changes in the temperature during the morning hours, as indicated by the thermometer at Perry's drug store.

8 A. M., 59.9 A. M., 59.9 A. M., 59.12 A. M., 59.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1894.

GOING UP HIGHER.

A TORNADO HITS WICHITA.

Over in Two Minutes, but Its Path One of Destruction.

Thirty Buildings Wrecked.—Three Deaths in the Storm Reported.

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 2.—A rain cloud from the West came in contact with a storm cloud from the South last night. They fused and proceeded to demolish property. The twelfth street depot of the Missouri Pacific was the first building struck, and it was completely demolished, the roof striking the stable of the Fairmount electric street railway, which it like an eggshell. Twelve men were in the building, but all escaped unhurt, although thrown about from one end to the other.

The storm passed east about a mile, accomplishing all its destruction in less than two minutes. About thirty houses and barns were wrecked, and probably five hundred shade trees were uprooted and strewn about in all directions. The Fairmount electric street railway was damaged, and the Fairmount electric street railway was damaged, and the Fairmount electric street railway was damaged.

Three children were hurt and two were killed. The children were killed by the falling of a chimney. The children were killed by the falling of a chimney. The children were killed by the falling of a chimney.

When Mute Lost His Watch the Intelligent Became Suspicious.

Edward Hasley, fifteen years old, of 231 Tillary street, Brooklyn, and Frank Young, seventeen years old, of 16 James street, began a fake fight this morning in City Hall Park, between the General Sessions and County Court House buildings.

A crowd gathered, and John Muta, a bystander, lost his silver watch. When the timepiece was taken the two boys ran to their heels up Chambers street, but were captured by Park Police Officer Sawyer.

When arraigned at the Tombs Police Court they pleaded not guilty, and were held in $1,000 bail for trial.

FOUR SAILORS LOST AT SEA.

And Another Seaman Badly Hurt on the Ship Almsdale.

FAYAL, Oct. 2.—The British ship Almsdale, Capt. Owens, which sailed from Tacoma on May 19 for Queenstown, has put into this port for medical assistance. The Almsdale encountered heavy gales on the voyage, during which Seaman Thomas Dixon was badly injured and four other members of the crew, named Glasston, Thomsen, Prentiss and Kendall, were washed overboard and drowned.

Link Defends His Character.

David H. Link, of 57 Lawrence street, desired to have it stated that he and James Campbell, who work